The High-Converting Landing Page

One page, one job: walk the visitor down a single path to a single action. Every block below moves them toward the CTA. The wireframe on the left maps to the explainers on the right — same numbers.

ABOVE THE FOLD

- 1 Headline
Bold, benefit-driven promise that hooks attention and speaks to the transformation. Does 80% of the work.
- 2 Subheadline
Supports the headline and builds desire with detail — the how, the who, the "without [the pain]."
- 3 VSL — Video Sales Letter
The main video that tells the story, builds trust and presents the offer. Your salesperson.
- 4 CTA
Primary call to action, visible above the fold, to get the visitor to take the next step.

BELOW THE FOLD

- 5 Social Proof
Trust indicators — testimonials, logos, ratings, numbers — right after the promise.
- 6 How
Explain how your solution works, in simple steps anyone can follow.
- 7 Why
Why it works and why it's different / better than what they've tried.
- 8 Product Bullets
Highlight the key benefits and features of your offer — benefits first.
- 9 CTA
Reinforce the action and move them closer to joining.
- 10 Social Proof
More testimonials, case studies, screenshots and results.
- 11 FAQs (Objections)
Address the top questions and objections up front — each answer removes a reason not to buy.
- 12 CTA
Final call to action to convert the prospects who are now ready.

The rules behind the layout

The structure is only half of it. These rules are what separate a page that looks fine from a page that actually sells.

THE 3 RULES THAT NEVER CHANGE

1. One goal, one CTA

The same button, repeated down the page. No menu, no exits, no competing links. The only way forward is the CTA.

2. Mobile-first

80%+ of your traffic is on a phone. Design for the thumb — big text, big buttons, short lines.

3. Clarity beats clever

A confused visitor never buys. Say what it is, who it's for, and what to do next — in plain words.

THE DETAILS THAT MAKE OR BREAK IT

- Above the fold is everything. Headline + VSL + CTA must all be visible before any scroll — your whole pitch in 3 seconds.
- Repeat the CTA. The same button after every major section — people buy at different moments.
- Contrast the button. One colour used only for the CTA, so the eye always finds it.
- Cut the nav bar. No header menu, no footer links leading away from the page.
- Speed = money. A slow page bleeds buyers. Compress images, keep it light.

The 5-second test: show someone the top of your page for 5 seconds, then take it away. If they can't tell you what it is, who it's for, and what to do next — the top of your page isn't done yet.
